TAPPING THE WIRES.

A Political Outrage in Delaware—A Democratic Procession Fired Into by Negroes—Several of the Democrats Badly Wounded—Disasters by Fire and Storm.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—A special dispatch to the Times gives the following particulars of the disturbance at Wilmington, Del., Saturday night: On the route of the Democrats' parade at Ninth and Walnut streets is a three-story brick building known as National hall. The lower story is occupied by two colored families, and a barber shop and cigar store kept by colored people. The second story is the Higgins (colored) Club headquarters. Here a festival of some kind, gotten up by two colored women, was in progress. Two clubs had passed down Walnut street and the third club, Blue Hen's Chickens, was passing this hall, when a stone was thrown from the sidewalk into a transparency which the club carried. The club passed on about fifty yards before it was generally known this had been done. When it became known to the club, it halted, and the marshal said: "We have been insulted. All who are ready to follow me come on, and all who are not get out of the way." At this time the Young Men's Democratic club next in line, numbering eighty-five men, had reached the hall, when another stone was thrown which struck its Lieutenant Colonel, Thos. A. Kane, with such force as to stagger him in his saddle. Almost simultaneously two pistol shots were fired from the second story of the hall into the club, which being totally unprepared, there being only six revolvers among eighty-five, the members broke and scattered in the midst of a fierce volley of shots from the building by which several members of this club were slightly wounded. From the fact that some of them are buckshot wounds, it appears that some of the negroes were armed with muskets. The Blue Hens Chickens and Williams Club came rushing up and returned the fire, and for two or three minutes there was hot firing on both sides; then the negroes broke and fled up Ninth street, pursued by the paraders, who kept up a hot fire in their rear, at the same time the air was filled with flying brickbats and stones, which smashed all windows and doors, and did some damage to the interior of the hall. Some threats were made to burn it, but they were not carried into effect. Stones were also thrown through the windows of the colored church at Ninth and French streets, and several colored houses were bombarded with stones. The following is a list of wounded in the line of parade: William McKinney, shot in the left cheek, serious; Thos. A. Kane, struck in the breast with a brick; C. C. Montgomery, shot twice in the breast, slight; William Weir, wounded in the thigh by a revolver bullet; William Long, shot in the neck, slight; Frank McGinnis, shot in the neck, slight; G. Pearce, shot in the shoulder; Nowray Pike, knocked down by a brick; Thomas Jones, buckshot wound; John O'Donnell, reporter for Sunday Mirror, struck in the abdomen by a spent bullet. Only two colored men were shot, and neither of them seriously. Temple, another negro, was brought in by the police after the riot with his face badly bruised. A colored woman was struck in the side by a brick, and a young colored girl was struck on the head by a brick. A colored woman was badly hurt by jumping from the second-story window of the hall. Three negro men were struck by bricks and slightly injured. George Pike (white) was attacked by negroes after the row and badly cut.

The Work of the Flames.

The contents of the residence of S. I. McCoy, of Columbus, Ohio, were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $1,000; no insurance.

At Sheboygan, Michigan, yesterday morning, a fire destroyed ten buildings. Loss, $10,000; fully insured.

Stone's clothing store, together with several other smaller places of business, was burned at Wyoming, Stark county, Illinois, yesterday. Loss, $50,000.

A $175,000 BLAZE IN THE SOUTH.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 18.—A fire broke out in one of the cotton sheds of the Commercial Cotton Press and Wharf Company, on Saturday afternoon. A strong northwest wind swept the flames down the wharf, consuming two large cotton sheds and a brick warehouse, partially stored with cotton. The fire soon spread to the cotton on the wharves, thence to three British iron steamships, the Borrowdale, Travancore and Bedford, which were lying at the pier partially loaded with cotton. The Borrowdale is badly damaged, and still burning, having on board 3,000 bales of cotton. The Travancore and Bedford are but slightly damaged. A derrick on the Bedford was burned, and in falling struck the third mate on the head, killing him almost instantly. The estimated loss is 2,000 bales of cotton, valued at $120,000, exclusive of the burned and damaged on the steamships. The damage to buildings, sheds and wharves of the Commercial Wharf Company is estimated at $50,000.

Hurricane and Snow Storm in the Northwest.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18.—The wind storm which prevailed here yesterday and last night was the severest ever known in this section, and the barometer never was known so low. The wind was from the south blowing between sixty and seventy miles an hour. A large fleet of vessels sought this harbor for safety and rode out the gale in the bay. A dispatch from Lacrosse says: "The storm all along the line of the Southern Minnesota railroad is the severest known in years. Passenger and freight trains along the line were blockaded in snow drifts from 10 to 12 feet deep, and teams with provisions have been dispatched to their relief from several points. The train which left Lacrosse on Friday has not been heard from since leaving Enulda that night. All cuts west of Fairmount were filled with snow packed hard. Reports of cattle, horses, etc., having perished are constantly received, but no loss of human life is yet reported. It is the worst storm ever known in Southern Minnesota and Eastern Dakota, and still raging."

Telegraphic Sparks.

Thomas Hunt, chairman of the Greenback Central Committee of Orange county, Indiana, has announced himself for Hancock and English.

The Democrats of Cheyenne, W. T., have nominated M. E. Post, a well-known banker and wool grower, as delegate to Congress.

LATER.—The Depere has put in at Manitowoc without any loss of life.

THE DECK OF THE ALPENA DISCOVERED.

MONTAGUE, Mich., Oct. 18.—The mail carrier from Clay Banks arrived at this place at 11 o'clock this morning and reports that just as he was leaving Clay Banks with the mail Mr. A. R. Wheeler told him that the deck of the Alpena had been discovered on the beach at Stony Creek. The mail carrier did not stop to get particulars.

THE STORM AND THE TELEGRAPH LINES.

CHICAGO, October 18.—The Western Union Lines on the east shore of Lake Michigan are all down north of St. Joseph. Detroit has been recovered, and something may be got soon from points north of there of the effect of the storm. Manager Weiler, of Milwaukee, telegraphs that the northwestern line to the Mississippi River and on the river division of the St. Paul Road are all right to the river. The Southern Minnesota and Iowa and Dakota divisions are snowed in, and the lines are broken down by the storm.

Robbery and Politics in Jackson County.

SEYMOUR, Ind., Oct. 18.—Paschal Carter, a well-to-do farmer residing one mile east of this city, was robbed last night of two notes, one for $500 the other for $105, and $45 in greenbacks. The thief effected an entrance into the house by sliding a window latch. The property stolen was in Mr. Carter's pants pockets, which were hanging on the bed where he slept. A fine watch was left in the pants untouched. No clue as yet. The robbery occurred a little after midnight.

The Democrats of our county are somewhat recovering from the political shock they received on Tuesday, but haven't given up yet. With united effort we yet believe the State can be easily carried for Hancock in November. Jackson county will give him more than 100 more votes than were cast for Landers on Tuesday. Please make a note of this. It is not believed we will have so large a negro vote as was polled in October.

A gentleman from Louisville, Ky., was here yesterday, and said that over five hundred negroes who voted in Indians on Tuesday last had returned to their homes in Kentucky. They made no secret of saying they were sent over here to vote, and were paid for it. This only confirms what has been said by many others upon this same subject. Let all Democrats go earnestly to work and work as if no election had occurred, and all will be well.

A Railway Train Sticking in the Snow.—Steamer Wrecked.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The train that left Dubuque on Friday morning over the Illinois Central for the west, is still stuck in a snow drift west of Howell, and the wind fills in the snow faster than it can be shoveled out. The company does not expect to get the road open to Sioux City before Tuesday.

The steamer Depere has not been heard from. She left Grand Haven for Milwaukee on Saturday morning just before the storm. The captain of the barge T. A. Irish, reports that he parted company with the missing steamer Depere, after sailing with her three hours, ten miles off Kenosha. She was then headed shoreward. Nothing has been heard of her since.

LATER.—The Depere has put in at Manitowoc without any loss of life.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

Mr. E. F. Biewend, of Warsaw, is in the city, shaking hands with his many friends.

Herman Huer of 55 West Main street died at noon to-day. Due notice of the funeral will be given.

Major W. R. Leflet, city editor of the Toledo Telegram, passed through the city to-day, enroute for Missouri, on a hunting trip.

George N. Bell, formerly of Fort Wayne, now a Toledo grocer, is spending the week in adjoining counties enjoying the delights of gunning.

The only transfer of real estate reported to-day is from Madison township, being 80 acres in section twenty transferred by Sarah J. Lewis to Jas. A. Brown for $800.

The Agnes Robertson troupe, eleven in number, are at the Robinson. The company's scenery attracted a great deal of attention while on the depot platform this morning.

Political headquarters presented a gloomy aspect early this morning, but as the warm sun melted away the cold, disagreeable atmosphere, political itinerants began to assemble and the pot boils again as if Sunday had never interrupted the course of events.

Arrangements are now progressing for the establishment of an office in this city by the Union Line, or what is known as the Wabash and Pennsylvania Freight Line. Mr. Lynn, of Indianapolis, is in town for the purpose of securing a desirable location, and this addition to the railroad interests of the city will be appreciated.

"COL." BOURKE.

Continuation of His Trial This Afternoon.

Police court-room was crowded this afternoon, the attraction seeming to exist in the fact that one "Col." Bourke was on trial for alleged association with prostitutes. It was shortly after 2:15 o'clock when Mayor Zollinger took his seat, and court opened. Patrolman Frank Rohle was recalled by the city and examined relative to the lights in the room where Bourke and the woman were seen. Mr. Rohle stated that two gas jets were turned on and one turned down. On cross examination by Attorney Stratton, Rohle said that the room was a double one, perhaps 14 or 16 feet by 40 feet. Continuing he said: "I watched the windows and saw the Miller girl look out of one. Pretty soon I saw the Colonel look out. Then in about ten minutes the woman came down stairs and waited a moment for Bourke, when both started off west. I followed them a ways and saw them turn about and go to the Fleming house."

At this point the witness was asked if his attention was called to the couple by anyone. This drew forth argument, and the Mayor decided the question proper. Mr. Stratton stated that he proposed to show that the arrest was the part of a scheme and he would ask the witness what the conversation was at the Fleming house, where the arrest was made. Rohle said that he followed them to the door of the Fleming house and when asked by Bourke what he was arrested for said for associating with prostitutes. Bourke then asked by what authority. Rohle said by ordinance of the city.

Mr. Stratton—"Did you not say Captain Smith ordered me to arrest you?"
Witness (after hesitation)—"I did."
Mr. S.—"You then took both prisoners to the station?"
Witness—"I did."
Mr. S.—"Did you not find Captain Smith asleep, and did he not say that while he knew nothing about the arrest, still, since you had arrested them they would be obliged to give bail?"
Witness—"Yes."

Mr. S.—"Then how do you reconcile this statement with the one you made on the Fleming House steps?"

This brought Mr. Colerick to his feet, and argument on the question was renewed. Mr. Colerick said the witness did not have anything to reconcile. If they wanted reconciliation they must bring Captain Smith for it. The best authority states that the prisoner here need not reconcile his own statements. In reply Mr. Stratton said he proposed to show that Captain Smith never ordered the arrest, and he would show it by the prisoners own statements.

Argument waxed warm, and as the SENTINEL goes to press it is still in debate.

Personal.

Mr. F. D. Casanave, assistant master mechanic of the Pennsylvania railroad shops, at Altoona, was in the city yesterday. He was shown the sights of Fort Wayne by Mr. Wm. Forsyth, of Master Mechanic Boone's office, of the Pittsburgh shops.

T. B. Bond and A. A. Simons left on Friday night for Cadillac and Petoskey, to be absent two weeks.

Mrs. S. S. Mors, of Kansas City, is the guest of Mrs. R. C. Bell.

Miss Levina McKinney, of Cleveland, Ohio, is the guest of Miss Esther McKinney.

Mrs. Charley Bond and daughters will leave for San Francisco, Cal., this week, to be absent some time. So says dame rumor.

Held for Trial.

The boy named Goodnough, from Fort Wayne, who was arrested at Logansport for stealing a watch and chain from one John Sites, of Cy Myers' restaurant, was given a preliminary hearing before Esquire Fender, who bound him over to the circuit court in the sum of $500. The prisoner has been peddling apples over the city for some time past.

HEREAFTER the subscription price of the DAILY SENTINEL will be ten cents per week. The success of the SENTINEL in the past will compel us in the near future to enlarge the paper to seven columns and materially lengthen them. Other improvements will also be made. In addition to full Associated Press telegrams and general news, special attention will be given to the local happenings of the city and county, it being the aim of the publisher henceforward to make the SENTINEL the best local paper that has ever been published in Allen County.

A corps of correspondents from the outlying districts will keep the reader well informed of the news in their respective neighborhoods, while special attention will be given to city affairs. We are thankful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon us in the past, and will endeavor to merit a continuance of the same in the future.

Close Up the Ranks.

Our Democratic exchanges from all parts of the State, as well as information from other sources, state that everywhere the Democracy are reorganizing their forces in a more thorough and systematic manner and intend to march forward to victory on the 2d of November. They feel confident that the reverse of Tuesday last can be retrieved, and that with a proper effort the State can be wrested from the hands of the enemy and the electoral vote of Indiana given to the hero of Gettysburg—General Winfield Scott Hancock. They don't give up the ship by any means and are not discouraged, but propose to fight the good fight with renewed energy. To redeem the State in November is not so big a task as one may think at first thought. On a free, fair vote of the Hoosiers, Indiana is a Democratic State. The plurality won by the Republicans last Tuesday foots up about 5,000, and this can be easily overcome, in view of the fact that the repeaters and imported cattle from other states, who voted in Indiana last week, will be needed at home in November. Moreover, there were scores of Democrats who differed with us on Tuesday last, honestly perhaps, but who are with us now and will be with us from this on. The gallant Democracy of Allen county should not be one whit behind their brother Democracy of the State in the effort to accomplish this grand result. Every Democrat should constitute himself a committee of one to assist in wiping out the Republican plurality of Tuesday. A change of fifty votes to a county will do it, and that change can be brought about by earnest, active, untiring work. Let us all rally, then, for the grand encounter. Close up the column and stand shoulder to shoulder. Work and vote for Hancock, the hero of Gettysburg, and victory.

THE office of President of the United States is a great office, and it has been a dignified office. It rests with the people of the United States to say whether it shall be filled during the next four years by a scarred soldier of the Union or by a self-seeking politician, whom his own political associates have branded as a bribe taker and perjuror.

It would be interesting to know just how much money the Republicans spent in Ohio and Indiana, just where they got it, and just how they spent it. But that is information that will never be given to a curious public.

WORKMEN bear in mind that the Chicago Tribune, the western organ, and the New York Times, the eastern organ of the Republican party, are both ultra free trade papers.

De Golyer and Garfield.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL.

In addition to what I have already said in the Gazette of this city, with reference to certain publications in that journal in regard to the De Golyer case, I desire to make the following statement:

At the May term 1875 of the Circuit court of Cook county, Illinois, there was a suit pending, No. 12, 181, wherein George R. Chittenden was plaintiff and Robert McClellan et al., were defendants. Emory A. Storrs was attorney for the plaintiff. Its purpose was to recover from the defendants (representing the De Golyer pavement company) $100,000, or one fourth of $400,000, the alleged profit, of a pavement contract for 200,000 square yards of pavement, which contract Chittenden alleged he had obtained for De Golyer and McClellan from the Board of Public Works in the District of Columbia.

The Hon. J. R. Doolittle, late a republican United States Senator from Wisconsin, (now of Chicago), was defendant's counsel in this suit, and will vouch for the following statement of the case.

Besides a plea of the general issue (or a general denial of the complaint) the defendant pleaded specially, in substance:

That the contract set up was obtained by Chittenden by improper influence, and was against public policy, and therefore void; that Chittenden paid Richard C. Parsons, then marshal of the United States supreme court, $10,000 to obtain from the Board of Public Works an award of the contract, and caused to be employed James A. Garfield, then chairman of the committee on appropriations of the House of Representatives, to solicit and urge on the Board the award of such contract; in consideration of which employment and services and influence, and as a fee which was to be contingent upon the obtaining of the contract, Chittenden caused to be paid to Garfield $5,000; that the award of the contract contained the following condition:

"An additional amount of 50,000 square yards will be awarded you (De Golyer & Co. meaning) so soon as the Board are reimbursed by the General Government on account of expenditures around the public buildings and grounds, or you (De G. & Co.) will be allowed to lay it this season, if you can wait until an appropriation is made for the purpose (meaning an appropriation by congress), at $3 50 per square yard." That afterwards the House of Representatives, on the recommendation of the committee on appropriations, did pass a bill, which afterwards passed congress, and was approved as a law, January 8, 1873, to appropriate $1,241,920.92, out of which sum the Board of Public Works was authorized to pay the sum of money agreed to be paid by the contract and award as stated, and that the amount was, in fact, mainly procured by the influence of Garfield alone.

To the special pleas Chittenden demurred; that is, he admitted the truth of the pleas, but said they were not sufficient in law to bar his suit.

An exhibit in this suit, referred to in the pleas, was a copy, sworn to by McClellan, of a letter from Chittenden to De Golyer & McClellan, dated at Washington, in which Chittenden said, among other things:

"Colonel Parsons has arrived. The influence of General Garfield has been secured by yesterday, last night and to-day's labors. He carries the purse of the United States—the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations—and is the strongest man in Congress, and with our friends my demand is to-day, not less than one hundred thousand more—two hundred in all. Everything is in the best of shape, the connections complete, and I have reason to believe, satisfactory. * * * I can hardly realize that we have Gen. Garfield with us. It is rare and very gratifying. All the appropriations of the district come through him."

In the brief of the defendant's counsel, (ex-Senator Doolittle,) was this point:

"The agreement with Gen. Garfield, a member of Congress, to pay him $5,000 as a contingent fee for procuring a contract, which was itself made to depend upon a future appropriation by Congress—which appropriation could only come from a Committee of which he was Chairman—was a sale of official influence which no veil can cover as against the plainest principles of public policy."

The Court (Judge Farwell presiding) overruled the demurrer of Chittenden, and on the grounds taken by the defendant's counsel, held their special pleas to be good, and that the contract was void as against public policy. That ended the case.

It was Chittenden's right, if not satisfied with this decision of Judge Farwell, to have appealed from it, or to have asked leave to reply to the pleas and have the case tried upon the facts, before a jury. Why, if he was not afraid of the facts, which he had confessed by his demurrer, did he not demand a jury trial on the facts? It has been said by one of Garfield's advocates and apologists, that the case "was dismissed by the court, for want of prosecution." Why did Chittenden, if conscious of an honest case, that would bear investigation, permit it to be ended by Judge Farwell's decision, or dismissed for want of prosecution?

I have but little further comment to make.

I quote from the New York Herald of the 15th instant, from among a long series of congratulatory telegrams to Garfield, furnished to that journal by telegram from Cleveland, dated 14th instant, the following:

"CHICAGO, October 14, 1880. There is a God in Heaven and justice in our land. I rejoice with you

GEORGE K. CHITTENDEN."

I ask, is this the same Chittenden who was plaintiff in the suit in Chicago, and whose letter I have quoted above? If not, will some friend of Garfield say so?

The first congratulation in the series published by the Herald, is the following:

"WASHINGTON, October 13, 1880.

J. A. Garfield: Ohio and Indiana have honored themselves and you. Your vindication has been ample and glorious as the slanders were mean and malicious. Accept my congratulations. R. G. INGERSOLL."

The question of theology, whether there "is a God in heaven;" the question of morality, whether there is "justice in our land," and the question of slander, whether Garfield has been untruly accused or not, I leave to be settled between the infidel and God defying Ingersoll, the Christian moralists and statesmen Garfield and Richard C. Parsons, and the man Chittenden, who said: "I can hardly realize that we have Garfield with us. It is rare and very gratifying."

In view of the proved facts, of which this DeGolyer case is but one, I ask: Are the American people approaching in their standard of public morals, that of the Romans, when the Praetorian Guards, holding aloft upon a lance the head of the murdered Pertinax, one of the best of the emperors, proclaimed that the Roman world "was to be sold to the highest bidder, by public auction?" That afterwards the House of Representatives, on the recommendation of the committee on appropriations, did pass a bill, which afterwards passed congress, and was approved as a law, January 8, 1873, to appropriate $1,241,920.92, out of which sum the Board of Public Works is authorized to pay the sum of money agreed to be paid by the contract and award as stated, and that the amount was, in fact, mainly procured by the influence of Garfield alone.

That is one of the questions for the American people to answer on the second day of November next. It will not then be too late to answer it aright. JOSEPH K. EDGERTON.

HANCOCK shot for the Union and personal liberty. Longstreet led the men who shot at Hancock for doing it, and now votes against him. Remember the hero of Gettysburg.

THE Republican tactics of maligning William H. English in order to annoy and defeat him has failed. He will not only continue on the ticket but he will be elected in November, without doubt.

BETWEEN Kentucky negroes in Ohio, and Kentucky negroes and imported white roughs in Indiana, the Republicans had a highly prosperous time of it last Tuesday. There will not be such free circulation in November.

To Keep Cider.

Cider is now plentiful and cheap and a good way to keep it sweet, is to put it as fresh as it can be obtained, into clean bottles, filling the bottle brim full. Then place the bottles into a vessel filled with cold water, the water covering the bottles well up to the neck. Put the vessel containing water, bottles and cider on the stove and bring the water to a boil. The cider will boil long before the water arrives at that condition. As the cider warms up it throws off through the mouth of the bottle all the sediment and impurities contained in it. Blow this accumulation aside from time to time, and when it ceases to rise, which will be shortly after the water comes to a boil, take out the bottles, pour out enough cider to admit the cork, stop them up tightly and put in a cool place. It will keep good and sweet for months.

Jewell to Ingerson.

When the result of the Indians and Ohio elections was made known Marshall Jewell, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, sent the following dispatch to Bob Ingerson, the infidel:

To Col. R. G. Ingerson, Washington, D. C.

Do you recollect an old and played out book published a long time ago called the Bible? Can you find a copy? If so read the 126th psalm, verse 2. MARSHALL JEWELL.

The verse reads as follows:

"Then was our mouth filled with laughter and our tongue with singing; then said they among the heathen, the Lord hath done great things for them.

Our National Health a Cause of Thanksgiving.

The past season has been particularly a fortunate one as regards the health of the Southern States, and especially that of the Gulf States. The plague of modern times—the yellow fever—has been fought and vanquished, thanks greatly to the efforts of the late lamented Dr. Chopin, at the head of the world renowned Charity Hospital of New Orleans. This institution has been miraculously, as it were, preserved in the highest state of its efficiency by the large revenues it annually receives for twenty-one years, commencing 1868, from the Louisiana State Lottery Company, about the grand monthly distributions of which all information will be given on application by mail made to M. A. Dauphin, New York City, or same person at New Orleans, Louisiana. Oct. 20, d&w.

STANDS TO-DAY WITHOUT A RIVAL IN THE WORLD.

For the cure of all kinds of Ague and Chills it has no equal; having stood the test of universal use for thirty years in the most malarial districts. It never fails to cure, nor merely removes for a time the symptoms, but eradicates the cause of the disease, thereby making a permanent cure. Price only 75 cts.

Manufactured by The Dr. Carter Medicine Co., No. 213 N. Main Street, St. Louis.

Rev. F. HACKEWELL, Supt. German Protestant Orphans' Home, St. Charles Rock Road, St. Louis Co., writing April 30th, 1877, says: "Dr. Carter's Fever and Ague Specific has never failed with us."

Mr. JNO. C. WELBORN of Keysport, Ill., says: "I cured a little girl of Ague of three years' standing, with Dr. Carter's Fever and Ague Specific, after the best physicians failed to benefit her."

Dr. YOUNGBLOOD of Little York, Mo., says: "I have used Dr. Carter's Fever and Ague Specific in my practice, and can heartily recommend it to the public."

The Free Trade Candidate for the Presidency.

Never before in the history of the government of the United States, was there a candidate run for the Presidency that was a member of any European political club. It has been reserved for the year 1880, and for the Republican party, to run a candidate for the Presidency who is a member of a European political club. That candidate is James A. Garfield. He holds the exalted position of honorary member in the Cobden Free Trade Club of England. It is a club of great distinguished and great financial resources. Its purpose is to propagate free trade throughout the world. It is not a social club; but it is a club that means business. It honors no man with a membership in the honorary degree unless satisfied that he has the ability and disposition to render the cause, for the promotion of which they are organized, the most substantial service. In July, at a regular meeting of the club, one of the speakers took occasion to congratulate the club on the fact that their distinguished honorary member, James A. Garfield, was the Republican candidate for President of the United States, and that in the event of his election they had the just expectation of achieving a great victory for their cause—free trade!

And great good reason had they to congratulate themselves. James A. Garfield, on the floor of congress, had declared that he was "in favor of such protection as would lead to ultimate free trade." He voted to reduce the tariff on iron; he voted to take the duty off of coal; he voted to reduce the duty on glass, and he voted against taking the tax off of tea and coffee, and against reducing the tax on tobacco from twenty-four cents a pound to sixteen cents a pound.

The constitution of the United States declares, "No person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States shall, without the consent of congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state."

What is the object of this provision of the constitution? What idea does it convey? Is it not, that if any "person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States" were to "accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state," then Garfield be faithful to the doctrine of "protection," about which we hear so much now, while holding the exalted honorary membership of the Cobden Free Trade Club of England! We have seen that Oakes Ames chose well when he bought up Garfield with Credit Mobilier stock that yielded a dividend of $329 in a very short time; we have seen that Parsons, of Cleveland, chose well when he bought Garfield's influence, as chairman of the congressional committee on appropriations, for $5,000, in the interest of the DeGolyer pavement; and may we not conclude from this that the Cobden Free Trade Club of England also chose well when they gave to him one of its most dazzling and highly prized honors by some men afflicted with a "vaulting ambition"? Is it not probable that this dazzling honor conferred on him and accepted by him, really in violation of the constitution of the United States, prompted his voice in favor of a reduction of the duty on iron, on glass, and on wool, and caused him to vote to take the duty off coal?

If, after having accepted the Republican nomination for the presidency, Mr. Garfield became converted to the doctrine of "protection," as now taught by the Republican politicians, why has he not sent the Cobden Free Trade Club, of England, a resignation of his membership in their club, in the honorary degree? It is a sort of "title" that a president of the United States cannot rightfully hold under the sanction of the constitution of the United States. Even if not plainly interdicted by the constitution, it does not look well for a presidential candidate to hold any sort of membership in that rich and aggressive Free Trade club.—Elkhart Democrat.

I would hereby certify, that I have used St. Jacobs Oil and found that it relieved rheumatism after a few applications.

AUGUST PRICE, Bergen, N. J.

Forward!
To the Democrats and Independent Voters of Indiana:

The result of the election last Tuesday is a deep disappointment to us all. The extent of the success which the Republican party has achieved in this State is as much a surprise to the Republicans as it is to the Democrats, and proves that the majority of the Republican party were as ignorant of the means which their corrupt leaders were employing as we were. The temporary loss of our State is a calamity that time will enable us to retrieve, but the injury which our free institutions will sustain, resulting from the frauds and corruptions practiced by the Republican leaders to secure their triumph, is incalculable.

Miss Emma Rogers, of Fort Wayne, is visiting Miss Maggie Hill, says the Decatur Democrat.

Mrs. J. W. Grear, of this city, is at Churubusco in attendance at the bedside of her sick mother, Mrs. Weakley.

H. S. Mensch who was injured by the explosion of fireworks last Friday evening is still unable to leave his room.

A carriage containing a party of young folks, broke down on Ewing street, last evening, but no one was injured.

Churubusco Herald: "Hip, hip, hurrah! for our friend Cosgrove. He will occupy the position of Sheriff, for the next four years, in Allen County."

The Wabash pay car hereafter will be in the city on the 25th of every month, as two pay cars are now used by the company, one west and one east of the Mississippi.

Scarcely has the warm breath of Summer died away, when Coughs and Colds, those avant couriers of dangerous disease show themselves. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup always cures them, and most quickly too.

Miami County Sentinel: Henry Krauskopf, a clerk in the treasury department, made his regular biennial trip to Peru to swear in a vote. His residence is rightfully in Fort Wayne. He went to his home in Fort Wayne to-day and will return in November to vote in Peru.

Bluffton Banner: Miss Emma Ervin started last Monday to attend the Fort Wayne M. E. college. She expects to devote the most of the time in the music department, under the instruction of Prof. Joost. Every room in the college is now occupied, and many more young persons are applying for admission.

Well if the cool and self-complacent Ananias style, in which the contrast between Porter and Landers is drawn by the New man in his article headed "Last Word," is a fair specimen of his heroic plan of Fort Wayne journalism, then there is no necessity of his longing for the more salubrious climate of Wabash.—Churubusco Herald.

The new rooms of Wayne Lodge, No. 25, F. and A. M., in the Seidel building, will be dedicated on the evening of Tuesday, November 16, at which occasion the grand master of Indiana will preside assisted by deputies. A choice programme is in process of completion and society may look forward to the event with pleasure.

Police court session this morning was of short duration, only five cases being on the docket. Charles Young paid $5 and costs for assaulting a Mrs. Boyd. Gary Powers will remain in jail for ten days for being drunk and disorderly, and Christ Reichling and Fred Smith, canal boatmen, paid fines assessed for fighting on the highway commonly supposed to lead to presidential aspirations.

Wabash journalism is conducted on the heroic plan. Speaking of the editor of the Plaindealer, the Courier man compliments him thus: "Its chief editor, T. P. Keator, is a liar who possesses less conscience but far more originality than Ananias of old. He is so utterly corrupt that he lies when the truth would serve him much better." When we quit editing the News, we think we will start a paper in the salubrious climate of Wabash.—Fort Wayne News.

ON THE MARKET.

Apples, and What to Do with Them.

It is becoming an important question among the farmers just now, what to do with the surplus apples, for the orchards on every hand have been groaning with immense loads of handsome fruit. In conversation this morning with a farmer on the market, he stated that he did not know what to do with them, although he is converting a large quantity into vinegar. So plenty, he says, is the fruit that it is decaying under the trees, and unless some avenue is opened there will be a deluge of cider, the like of which has not been seen for years. Already every available barrel has been bought to store the juice. This farmer is feeding a portion of his surplus fruit to his hogs, though corn has the preference for hardening the pork before killing. He claims apples will make beef as fast as potatoes and are cleaner and easier to raise. The subject of apples at any time is one replete with interesting facts, but as gained from the stand point of a Fort Wayne market gardener, local and cheerful prospects are portrayed. This portion of Indiana will harvest a large crop of the fruit, and the question heading this article is daily growing more apropos.

Our New City Editor.

Mr. Fred H. Whipple, of Toledo, has assumed the duties of city editor of the SENTINEL, and we commend him to the kind consideration of our friends. The Toledo Telegram says: "Fred. H. Whipple, who for a long time was connected with the Commercial in the capacity of telegraph and city editor, has accepted the position of city editor of the Fort Wayne SENTINEL, and left last night to enter upon his duties in that capacity. Mr. Whipple is an excellent newspaper man, is a rapid worker, has a keen scent for news, and is familiar with all the details of journalism. Under his management the city department of the SENTINEL will undoubtedly be greatly improved."

Yesterday's Storm.

The storm of yesterday, coming as it did, unheralded by old probabilities, appears to have been particularly severe in this immediate vicinity. Along the lines of the several railroads reports come of high winds, amounting in some localities to a gale, which caused great damage to portable articles, and in some instances unroofing houses and other buildings. The cold, dreary wind was mixed with equally disagreeable snow squalls, rendering pedestrianism extremely uncomfortable and out door work of any nature hazardous. Thus far no fatalities have been reported, but indiscriminate damage is the hue and cry.

Synod of Indiana.

The Presbyterian Synod of Indiana, North, comprising 140 churches and 83 ministers, will convene at the First Presbyterian church in this city, commencing at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening. The meetings, continuing through and including Monday, will be open to the public, and particular attention will be given to the evening sessions, in the way of popular exercises. The opening sermon on Thursday evening will be delivered by Rev. H. L. Vannuys, of Goshen, and an interesting programme has been arranged for the entire series of meetings. The synod consists of the residing ministers and elders.

Fort Wayne Baptist Association.

From the Warsaw papers we learn that the Fort Wayne Baptist Association convened in that city on the afternoon of the 13th inst., Wednesday last. Rev. J. R. Stone, D. D., of Fort Wayne, was chosen Moderator, and Rev. George C. Kline, of Huntington, was chosen Clerk. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. O. V. Fritz, of Columbia City. Church letters were read, showing commendable progress, enterprise and zeal in the Baptist cause throughout the Association. There were present about one hundred and twenty delegates, and the meetings were devotional and earnest.

The Banker's Daughter.

The Grand Opera House was filled

on Saturday evening with a fashionable audience, attracted thither to witness the rendition of that excellent play entitled "The Banker's Daughter." The play, as announced, was admirably presented, both in scenery and acting, and was way above the average. Mr. Collier's company is an exception to most companies on the road the present season, in that every member thereof is either an actor or an actress of decided merit. Miss Boyle is a fine actress, while the mirth-provoking Mrs. Walcot captured the audience and was made the recipient of unbounded applause. The support throughout had no element of weakness in it.

Books for Church Services.

When fashionably dressed people visit seats they will be quite an ornament to the building, but plain or shabbily dressed persons should be taught to know better than enter a fashionable church by being stowed away in some unobtrusive corner (See James i, 2) where they will not be an eye-sore to the Dashers and Flashers new china, new hand-painted china, new Majolica, from Merton, England; new student lamp, new cut glassware, new toilet decorated, new hanging lamp, new complements of Ward's three jolly dogs, at Ward's Cheap Crockery Store, No. 8 West Columbia street.
